Watch for these birds in Winter sporting Yellow!

Yellow-bellied Sapsucker

Cedar Waxwing

Yellow-rumped Warbler

Who says birds in Winter don't have Color?? Watch for these gorgeous native birds visiting your yard during the Winter months and notice the gorgeous bright YELLOW markings on each of them! All of these photos were taken on our deck. The birds were initially lured in by the irresistible sight and sound of moving water in our heated bird bath, but now are also enjoying the many food stuffs available there. Other than moving water, Who likes what to eat at our deck feeding stations? Well the Cedar Waxwings are mostly sticking to the waterfall and heated baths, but coming in FLOCKS to those! ALL of the other birds love the Sunflower Hearts (no shell), the Goldfinches and Pine Siskins also enjoy the "Finch Mix" with Sunflower hearts and Nyjer seed, mealworms are a favorite of the Yellow-rumped warbler, and HIGH Fat suet (30-40%) is readily consumed by the Warbler, Sapsucker and Flicker.
